As Virginia natives now residing in Atlanta, this dynamic sister duo has a creative and high energy presence on stage and on-air that resonates with teens and young adult audiences. Meesa and Meah also known as M&M to their fans and followers deliver relevant, exciting and engaging conversation on their radio show combined with positive music that encourages and inspires their listeners. They are also affiliated with various youth empowerment initiatives and organizations.

“There are many young people out there whom God has blessed with great gifts, we like to encourage them to use their talents for the Kingdom, but most importantly offer them a platform to do so.” -Meesa

In addition to using their voices to motivate other teens and young adults, these multi-talented sisters have showcased their skills through writing, producing, acting and casting various award winning stage plays. Meesa and Meah’s talent have also been used in commercials and music videos.

“We wanted to offer our generation an alternative source of music that penetrates their hearts and change their way of thinking. We do this by exposing our listeners to music that has dope beats that often captivates us as young people, but with lyrics that are morally sound.” -Meah.

Approaching each and every task with great energy and diligence, Meesa & Meah Evans humbly consider it a privilege to expose their listeners to music that’s current and popular but doesn’t lead them to compromise their faith, while at the same time giving many artists the needed exposure to advance their own ministry.

“Our goal is to prove to our peers that the Kingdom of God has what we need in every area of life, even the music that we love to listen to. As children of God we don’t have to turn to the “world” to entertain us nor do we have to pollute our god-given talents.” -M&M
